The Biggest Reason May Equal A Small One

Safety Coordinator David Grum came up with the idea of including families of JJH employees in safety awareness. At the picnic this year, David asked the children of the JJH field and office staff to sign a hand print and place it on the new banner. This reminds us all that the reasons to be safe on the job go beyond the job itself. David took photos of workers and their family members at the picnic to drive that message even further.
